Festival Melbourne2006, the cultural festival of the Commonwealth Games, will extend across Victoria as four major regional centres will host live sites and cultural festival activities during Games time.

Bendigo, Ballarat, Geelong and Moe will each broadcast Commonwealth Games sporting events live on large-scale outdoor screens during the games period, complimented by performances from the best artists and musicians from around the Commonwealth. In addition, local artists will work alongside visiting artists to facilitate unique cultural exchanges in these four major Victorian regional centres.

Festival Melbourne2006, an integral part of the Melbourne 2006 Commonwealth Games and the largest free cultural festival ever held in Australia, will be an international event offering 11 days of non-stop music, dance, circus, street theatre and visual art in a range of venues across Victoria and in the great outdoors.

Camp Street, one of Ballarat's oldest streets, will be the location of a range of celebrations, with over 500 local, international and national performers and visual artists scheduled to take part.

The Festival will have a floral theme, and two well known groups who originated in Ballarat, EARTH and Ratartat, will transform Alfred Deakin Place into an exotic garden with inflatable plants, vines and flowers, and local community members will work with the artists to animate the space with performances.

Ballarat's renowned Begonia Festival parade will be held on Saturday 18 March, to coincide with the Games, and the city will also celebrate its relationship with adopted Commonwealth nation, India, hosting an exchange with some 400 Indian artists including performances from renowned Indian percussion group the Dhol Foundation, the Jaipur Kawa Brass Band from Rajasthan and Indian sarod player Amjad Ali Khan.

Ballarat will also host a number of international artists during the Games, including a group of Indian rafaogars, darners from Rajasthan, who will also be visiting just prior to the Games in a Craft Victoria residency.
